DEMPSEY-TUNNEY FIGHT
CHICAGO—Announcement made by Gene Norrille that he lost $38,000 on Dempsey is not taken seriously by those who know the California turf was best. Norrille would not wager that much money on a fixed horse race, and knowing Dempsey's mental condition it is not reasonable to think that he would risk as much as a thin dime on the chances of the former champion.

Among those who are reported to have noted hand-made profits on the victory of Tunney are "Chicago" men, who it is said had $20,000 down at varying odds, Arnold Goldblatt, his New York operator, who took the Tunney end for $100,000 and Tim Mara, personal friend of Tunney, who started betting during the training period and who was still bragging as the fighters entered the ring.

Despite the fact that Dempsey left the ring apparently battered into illness, and according to newspaper reports suffering from severe cuts about the face, it is known that the ex-champion was able to undergo the ordeal of having a barber shave him before he retired for the evening.

BASEBALL

Now that the world's series is at an end, the opening of the Hot Stove season is in order, and the first story to come through is in regard to a big deal between Muggsy McGraw, of the Giants, and McCarthy, of the Chicago Cubs.

The deal would send Terry and Frisch to Chicago and Harcourt, Friesen and Grimm to New York. It is understood that Outfielder Meusel, who recently purchased his release does not figure in the deal.

With Frisch at third, Cooney at short, Adams at second and Terry at first, the Cubs management figure they are set for the infield. A still hunt is on for a catcher to replace Igoe. If a high-class receiver is secured, the Cubs believe they are all set to make a real fight for the pennant next year.

It is understood that there is no money involved in the Giants-Cubs deal, that the negotiations are being conducted on an even-money deal.

Frisch is through with the Giants. That has been established since he has endeavored to speed our inspectors in fast automobiles, he decided to speed up our own organization with more cars. We must be equally as well mounted as our adversaries.

CHEVROLET CARS FOR PATROL SQUADRON

Smugglers and undesirable immigrants attempting to cross the border between the United States and Mexico will face a still more efficient barrier with the announcement that the government has purchased four Chevrolet touring cars for its immigration patrol squadron.

"Modern law evaders use automobiles and not horses," said D. P. Gay, Jr., border patrol chief, at Brownville, Texas, where the United States Immigration Service purchased the four Chevrolets.

"With smugglers using cars to transport their contraband and aliens endeavoring to speed our inspectors in fast automobiles, we decided to speed up our own organization with more cars. We must be equally as well mounted as our adversaries."

Illegal entrance to this country has naturally been sought by the smugglers at the most inaccessible points to the border, remote from well travelled roads at spots where automobiles are subjected to the most severe tests in deep sand and gullies. Government inspectors found their transportation needs demanded a car of rugged construction, free from necessity of frequent repairs, and with ample cooling facilities to withstand the torrid heat.

The Chevrolets were purchased in an open competitive bidding. In the official specifications it was detailed "the cars are for scouting work, will be required to run on an average of from 1,200 to 1,500 miles per month on both smooth and rough as well as rocky roads and through mud and sand country of mesquite vegetation."

Supervision of the border is exercised from the headquarters of the immigration service at Brownville for hundreds of miles along the Rio Grande river.

HELP TO ERADICATE

DIPHTHERIA DISEASE

Diphtheria is essentially a children's disease, picking its victims chiefly during childhood and to a less extent in early adult life. It is always a very serious disease, and not uncommonly a fatal one. It frequently kills, maims or cripples its victims, chiefly young children. Its onset is insidious. There is no alarming rash, such as is seen in smallpox or scarlet fever to indicate the malignancy of the disease. There is ordinarily no prostration at the beginning, such as is seen in pneumonia to indicate the seriousness of infection.

A small grayish white patch on the child's throat is usually the first sign of the disease, and at this stage the child does not appear to be very sick. In some instances the inflammation of the throat is an obstruction to breathing caused by the growth of diphtheria membrane in the child's breathing passages. At this time the doctors, making efforts to breathe for the child and the parents, but unfortunately the stage for favorable treatment has passed.

During the years 1920-1924 inclusive there were 1,066 cases of Diphtheria in Alberta. Of these 587 or 55% died from the disease.

Of those who died 43 were under one year, 158 were between 1 and 4 years old, and 231 were between 5 and 14 years old. 41% of the deaths occurred in children under 10 years.

The gravity of the situation, however, is not the alone the substantial number of deaths. While an attack of diphtheria is often mild and associated with comparatively little prostration, except in those cases in which the growth of the diphtheria membrane in the air passages literally chokes the child to death, the complications which accompany, and follow diphtheria frequently have serious consequences. Various types of paralysis may occur which leave the child crippled for life; mastoiditis, abscesses of the nose and throat, and other septic infections, may cause prolonged or permanent disability, heart disease, and other chronic complications which may persist for a long period, and uncommonly for life, may result in a seriously handicapping disability in later life.

Diphtheria Antitoxin
When diphtheria was put into use in 1915 many health authorities then felt that a relatively easy conquest of the disease would result in that they were mistaken. Diphtheria antitoxin is effective as a cure only if given early. The disappointing feature about antitoxin has been its limited usefulness when given to prevent diphtheria. It only protects against the disease for two or three weeks. The immunizing substance does not hold long in the body, and the patient becomes just as susceptible to the disease as before. Diphtheria, itself, does not render the person having had it immune from a second or third attack.

Toxin-Antitoxin and Toxoid
Happily, a new means for dealing with the situation became available. Toxin-antitoxin, the prevention measure against diphtheria, was first discovered accidentally in the course of experimentation about thirty years ago. In 1912, Park and Zimpher, of New York, began the immunization of children in a large organized way through the injection of toxin-antitoxin, and its use in many localities has since conclusively demonstrated the effectiveness and harmlessness of this measure. The favorable results have been confirmed in many places in this country and abroad.

Later a modification of this came into general use, the substance used being called "Toxoid," which is the same as Toxin-Antitoxin except that the method employed in neutralizing the Toxin is somewhat different.

It has several advantages over the Toxin-Antitoxin which need not be given here. The administration of toxoid is a simple procedure and can be easily performed by any physician. Two hypodermic injections of the substance are given in the arm of the child at intervals of one month between each injection. It is not remotely related to antitoxin. Toxin-antitoxin is or was not a cure for diphtheria. It will prevent it, but the immunity may be some few weeks in developing. Once established, the immunity will last for years, and probably for life.

Toxoid Should Be Given Early

Every infant between the sixth and ninth month of age is the most favorable period to receive immunity against diphtheria through toxoid. In the first place the child at this age responds most readily to the treatment and in the second place it is entering upon that period when it is almost susceptible to diphtheria, and a time when also fatalities from the disease most frequently occur.

At this age diphtheria often appears in the form known as laryngeal diphtheria or membranous croup. In this type of disease the air passages are blocked almost from the beginning and the child runs the added risk of strangulation, or must be subjected to either the operation of opening the windpipe, called tracheotomy, or inserting a tube into the throat by way of the mouth, called intubation. These risks add to the number of deaths.
The utilization of toxin-antitoxin and toxoid for diphtheria immunization work was considerably enhanced by the discovery of the test for susceptibility to diphtheria in 1912 by Dr. Bela Schick, of Vienna (now of New York).
The Schick Test made it possible to test on a large scale the immunizing power of toxin-antitoxin and at the same time to test the duration of immunity.
Schick Test Should Be Omitted
It is considered quite unnecessary, and from certain standpoints undesirable, to give the Schick test to very young children, or even to older children before toxoid is administered. Nearly all children under five years of age and the vast majority of those between five and ten are susceptible to diphtheria. To give the test merely delays and complicates matters as well as adding to the cost of immunization work. The safer method is to give toxoid to all children first.
Toxoid will never fulfill its promise of eradicating diphtheria if its use is limited merely to school children, or to those who have previously shown a positive reaction to the Schick test. It is to be a really effective weapon, immunization by this means must become a routine practice in the hands of family physicians.
When the simple and harmless use of toxoid for children at six months is demanded by all parents and administered by physicians to every child in a routine way, then and not until then will it be possible to wipe out diphtheria.

HEARD ON THE STREET

One night a fire was announced by the violent ringing of the town alarm bell, and the brigade arrived at the scene of action to find the burning building a mass of smoke. No flames were visible from the outside.

The captain made a careful survey, then he lit his pipe and started to smoke.

"We'd better leave it alone and let it burn up," he said. "Then we'll be able to see what we are doing."

This is not the way Chief A. V. McFarland will handle any local conflagration.

Tony Grosz is a new lad; he is reciting poetry as follows:

Mary had a little watch,
Set pretty in her father,
And when he asked, "Have you the time?"

She knew he was getting smarter

"Pete, would you like a little of something Scotch—the real thing?" enquired Jack Taylor on Sunday evening when he was entertaining Pete Teller at his father's home, after bringing him from Drumheller.

"Well, now—I seldom indulge," replied Pete.

"Of course you will," said Jack. "Slater, bring out that pot of Dundee marmalade. What do we care about the expense?"

Dear Girl: "Harold, my father doesn't like you very well."

Smithy: "That's nothing; my whole family objects to you."

Farmer (to Kessie Red): "Now be sure and mark plain on them bottles which is for my wife and which is for the cow. I don't want nothing to happen to that Jersey cow."

Tony McKinley remarks that ours is a strange language. We speak of a government having a working majority but a government with a working majority does not have to work half so hard as one without a majority.

"We lunch at one on Wednesday," said the Calgary lady to the new cook, "so on that day we always go for a pin in the car at two."

"Very good, mum," said the cook, "I'll need to leave the washing up till we get back again."

Young Mrs. Blank (at the Royal Bank window): "I wish to open an account here."

Landie: "Very well, madam. How much do you wish to deposit?"

Mrs. Blank: "Why, nothing. I want to draw out forty dollars."

Landie: "You will have to open that kind of an account with Mr. Van Tighem."

"Gentlemen," said Pete De Kott, "I'll bet somebody changed the bottle on this label!"

Bill Tierney remarked: "If wives only knew what stenographers really think of their husbands, they would cease to worry."

Bill Wilkinson was a little late arriving from his ranch at work on Saturday, and when he did come he was mounted on rather a punk looking colt. "What's wrong with the colt," inquired Mr. Parish. "Well, yer see, gunner's he was and by a body in pants and 'e got a bit of a stiff neck."

Constable Tate: "It seems to be your fault, mister. It's a wonder you weren't killed! Why didn't you put on your brakes?"

Moorist: "My wife wouldn't let me! They squeak and make her nervous."

Jack Taylor had spent part of his leave in France, and was very fond of airing his tiny knowledge of French. On leaving his friend Pete Teller one evening, he said: "Au revoir!"

"What do you mean?" asked Pete.

"I mean good-bye—au revoir is good-bye in the French language."

"Oh, I see; well, prussic acid to you," said Teller.

"Whatever do you mean, Jack inquired."

"That means good-bye in any language," said Pete with a grin.

A man went into the Rexall drug store the other day and asked: "Have you a copy of 'Who's Who and What's What' by J. K. Jerome?"

"No, sir," replied Wilfred Gardner, "but we have 'who's He and What's He Got' by Bradstreet."

Bill Tierney has been working at the factory from a little after five o'clock in the morning, and tore himself away from his work long enough to go to the post office to get the Amorior Chronicle. Postmaster Martin handed the paper and also a black and envelope.

Tierney became uneasy, and showed it.

"Hope it's not bad news," said the postmaster.

"It is that," said Bill, glancing at the address. "It's upset of an em-toire, McKelly's dead. Of can tell by his handwriting!"

Tony McKinley writes that it isn't the original cost of silk stockings and more, it's the apiece, that's high.

Shoe Salesman: "What size do you take, madam?"

Madam: "Well, Threes are my size, but fours are so comfortable that I wear fives."

Frank, ordinarily quite a peaceable child, came home after a fight with the son of a neighbour.

"Why, Frank, I'm ashamed of you," his mother said sternly. "And I'm certainly surprised at the new boy fighting; I thought he had the nerve!"

"Well, he ain't now!" replied Frank remissly.

Town Curate: "They tell me you have a model husband, Mrs. Blank?"

Mrs. Blank: "Yes, but he ain't a workin' model."

"Good heavens, Pete, what is the matter with your face? Were you in an automobile accident?" asked Teddie Pendergast.

"No," said Pete Teller, "I was being shaved by a lady barber in Calgary, when a mouse ran across the floor."

"Is Mrs. Blank at home," asked Jack Allan.

"Yes, but she ain't receiving today," answered the young son.

"Oh, but that will be all right. I'm not delivering—I'm collecting," said Jack.

"Strathmore is disgraced!" said Frank Miller. "It's ignored, out of luck, and a laughing stock for all the rest of the progressive communities."

"How so?" inquired a recently arrived guest.

"Why, there's a checker tournament going on over at the shack, and just as our champion, Kelly, was about to start for there, he had to go to work. It's too darn bad!"

Fred Nye, the town assessor, is quite an entomologist, and says that a bee's abdomen is only one-thirty-second of an inch long. The other two feet is imagination.

"You never seem to take any interest in anything I do," sobbed the bride. "Don't be unreasonable, my dear," remonstrated her husband. "I

Bill Wilkinson: "I see a new play opened in London with a naive chorus of Scotchmen in kilts who came on the stage throwing pennies to the audience!"

Parish: "What's the name of it?"

Williamson: "The Miracle!"

Constable Tate: "You will be charged with throwing your mother-in-law out of the window."

Prisoner: "I done it without thinking, sir."

LOCAL SETTINGS

A regular meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on the home of Mrs. R. A. Brown on Wednesday, October 20th, at 3 p.m. A paper will be given by Mrs. Frohberger; subject "Dietary Building."

Among the local "strays" who have been frequenting the restaurants during the past few days, was D. A. Perry, local agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway. During Mrs. Perry's absence he attempted "home cooking," but gave it up in disgust and joined the "Orphan's Club" as soon as the supply of clean dishes was exhausted.

Frank Miller has sold the Carlsland Chateau business to J. Grahame Chatter, of Calgary, and the latter will take possession in about a month. If the transfer of the license is granted by the Provincial Government Liquor Control Board.

The World's Series ended on Sunday, St. Louis winning the series by capturing the last game by 2 to 3. Some of the local fans were bordering on a nervous breakdown, and Percy Parish remarks that it is mighty hard to keep your mind on your work while the contests are under way. He was delighted that "Isabe" Ruth did so well, and that Alexander destroyed the goods. He has always been a great admirer of the invincible Grover.

Frank Miller maintains that Muesel, of the New York Yankees, owes him fifty dollars, but it seems impossible to get him to explain the obligation.

Two weeks from Friday the Tennis Club will put on their big masquerade dance at the Memorial Hall. October 29 is the date. "Isabel" Red will be present, but it is a dark secret, what his costume will be.

The Ladies Club, of Cheadle, will hold a Whist Drive on Thursday afternoon, October 21st, at 2.30 o'clock.

The Canadian Legion have secured Mrs. Trainor's orchestra for the big Harvest Dance.

Bill Wilkinson has another rabbit story, but he went across with a well. However, he was seen leaving the Pioneer Meat Market with a fully developed jack rabbit in his embrace, but where or how he came into possession is still a secret. Everyone is sure he did not shoot it.

Herb MacLaughlin, who occupies E. M. Stevens farm, suffered quite heavily when fire destroyed the barn, which was a total loss, but covered by insurance placed through Fred J. Dunn.

Mr. MacLaughlin lost two cows, a calf, a pig, chickens, and a car, upon which he carried no insurance.

The Wheat Pool, which has already made three payments, totalling $140 on the 1925 crop, is expected to make a final payment this month. This payment will distribute several million dollars to western farmers, and will come about the same time that many of them are receiving the initial payment on the 1925 crop. Deliveries on this year's crop are away behind that of 1925.

Thrashing operations were up in this district through the rain on Thursday, and the snow on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Quite a little hail also came on Thursday.

On Monday night Chief A. V. McFarland and his newly organized fire brigade had their first practical run-out, when the alarm was sounded for a configuration that had broken out in the home of Jack Cheele. The boys responded within three minutes after the alarm sounded, and located the blaze in an old sideboard. Considerable damage was done by water. The cause of the fire is unknown as Mr. Cheele has been away from the premises for about ten days, during which time the house was unoccupied, but it is thought that mice and matches were the combination that created the trouble.

Mr. G. H. Patrick was lay delegate from St. Michaels and All Angels Church at the Synod of the Calgary Diocese last week, when the Very Rev. L. R. Sherman, Dean of Quebec, was elected Bishop, to succeed Bishop Pinkham, who recently resigned. It will probably be about three months before Bishop-elect Sherman will arrive in Calgary.

Tuesday night Fred Anderson and Rexall Red had a heart-to-heart talk in regard to the costume "Red" is going to wear at the Tennis Club masquerade. "Red" was a little perplexed, but Fred came to his assistance in making some suggestions that seemed to give the artistic young man, who was lacking, was quite a relief to the popular young druggist.

November 5th is the date selected by the Nightingale F.W.A. for their masquerade in Nightingale Hall. You know what a good time you always have when you go to Nightingale.

The ladies of the United Church will hold their annual chicken supper on Monday, October 25, and have also made arrangement for a bazaar on Saturday, November 20th.

Jack Quon has returned from Vancouver. He accompanied his cousin, the young Chinaman who was blinded at a Chin woman attacked and cut with a knife some months ago. He consulted several specialists, both white and Chinese, but at present none of them hold out any hope of the Chinese boy recovering his sight.

L. L. tells a story of a Scotchman, who, upon being introduced to a real live American visitor, asked the latter from what land he had come. "The greatest in the world," proudly answered the American. "Ah, pur hoddie," counted the Scot, "we o' caulduns, 'ye've lost your accent."

Now that the rush in farm work will soon be over, Dr. Giffen has begun the practice of presenting baby girls, the latest arrival being for Mr. and Mrs. Del Van Tighen.

At a meeting of the Canadian Legion on Tuesday night, it was decided to present three models for competition among the schools of the district for the best composition upon the subject: "Canada's Part in the Great War." One prize will be given to High School students; one for grades six, seven and eight; and one for the junior grades. Fuller details will be available in next week's issue of the Standard.

Commencing Friday, October 22nd, Dr. Stimmens will visit Strathmore every Friday at 4 p.m. and all day Saturday, instead of Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday, as he has been

Real estate business has been quite active in Strathmore recently, and there is a dearth of houses available for rent. Some of the local capitalists should look over the situation and help the town, and at the same time secure fair returns for their investment. People will not locate in a town where they cannot obtain reasonable living conditions.

Harry Thorburn, of the Strathmore Hotel, is pretty lucky in baseball pools but because he didn't take his brother "Burr" advice he did not get close to the winning ticket for the new Star car, given away at the Elwood Curling Club Carnival, which was won by Chas. Estery, of the B. A. A. Club, winning with ticket No. 1967, which was the number brother Bill selected, but Harry insisted on a high number, and so finds himself among the also ran bunch.

SCOUT NOTES

FIRST STRATHMORE TROOP BOY SCOUTS

All members of the Troop are requested to be on hand at the Clubroom on Monday evening next so that a start can be made with the instruction of the Signaller's Badge, which is the hardest of the work for Second Class tests.

Wolf Cubs will meet on Wednesday evening as usual, when a start will be made with their training for badges. Much publicity has been given by the troop in the Scout Leader, the monthly publication circulated among Scouts in the Dominion. Pictures of the camp are being sent to Headquarters to be placed with others in an album which is being compiled as a present to Baron Byng as some token of his interest in the movement while he occupied the high position of Governor General.

This album will be a wonderful record of the progress of the Scout movement in the Dominion of Canada.

ROCKYFORD

Mr. J. W. Kenworthy wishes to announce he is taking over the milk and dairy business of Mr. C. A. Smith, and will deliver to the residents of Rockyford the later part of this month.

Snow unfortunately fell on Sunday and put an end to threshing, after a week of perfect weather, which was made the very most of, every outfit
in the country having put in full time, with the exception of an hour or two on Friday morning, following a shower
which fell on Thursday night.

There is still a good deal to thresh yet on the bigger farms, the yield will be far—no very big crops and no failures. The grade is necessarily low, high but by careful separating the spoiled sheaves from the stacks to thresh—later, many farmers have losing reduced the loss in this direction
to a minimum.

On Wednesday a C.P.R. camp in charge of Mr. Art Lowe moved into the district to make necessary repairs on the company's canal and structures.

On Monday last a very pleasant evening was spent by the young folks of Rockyford at the home of Mrs.
P. Mowrey. Dancing and music was much enjoyed, as also the splendid supper served by the hostess.

On Friday Mr. Stevens had a very painful accident, being kicked by a horse while delivering grain to the Home Elevator. He sustained a broken arm and other injuries. Dr.
Hewson attended and set the arm.

Miss Wells was a visitor to Calgary
last week.

The latest sport in the district is catching "suckers" in the irrigation canal. Tom Birt suggests that we might start a sucker club, but unfortunately there is too much opposition in this neck of the woods.

John Stitt has just finished threshing, and invites suggestions as to how he is to spend the money to the best advantage—to John, he is clearly understood.

Owners of combines are most enthusiastic about results achieved by these machines, several of which have been employed in the district
this season.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody any good. The storm which has stopped threshing has filled the pockets.
Don't forget the masquerade ball on October 29th. Costumes may be obtained from the Rockyford Drug store.

ROCKYFORD UNITED CHURCH NOTES

On Sunday, October 17th, the United Church service will be a little different from the ordinary. A picture sermon will be given on the work of the United Church in Central India. This is a new field to those who were Methodists before Church Union, as the work was carried on by the former Presbyterian church. This will give us a chance to get acquainted with the work there.

On Sunday, October 24th, the Rockyford United Church will celebrate its fifth anniversary. Rev. Thos.
Powell, Calgary, superintendent of missions for Alberta in the United Church, will be the speaker for the day. Service will be held at Cowtown at 11 a.m., Jarvis at 2:30 p.m., Rockyford 8 p.m. Let us make this the best anniversary yet held!

Monday evening, October 25th, the Ladies Aid will serve their Annual Turkey Supper in the Hall. Mr.
Powell will lecture, and a splendid musical program will be given during the evening.

To review our work a little, a splendid program was given on Rally
Day, September 26th, in the Sunday School. Recitations, exercises, songs, music, addresses and a pleasant, entitled: "United for Service," made up the program.

After the church service on Sunday,
September 26th, the congregation remained for a short time to bid farewell to Miss Day and Mr. George Day.
They are, removing from Tator, and a great sense of loss is felt at their departure. They have both been very faithful members of Rockyford choir.
Mr. Hockin spoke for the church as a whole. Mr. Post for the board, Mr.
Walrod for the choir, and Mr. Smith

STANDARD

Quite a number of Standardites enjoyed the dance at Hussar last Friday evening.

Threshing was general last week—
the largest yield reported here is thirty-four bushels per acre. The average yield is from twenty to twenty-five bushels. The grain has been grading No. 2 and No. 3 tough
as a general rule.

Messrs Rhodes, Dickson and Reid were the guests of Mr. Hugh Par-thing at the Hussar Hotel for a few days last week, when they enjoyed some excellent shooting.

Mrs. Janet Dand, of Seattle, is back to Standard again to oversee the threshing and marketing of the grain from her large farms in this vicinity.

Mr. John Vert arrived in Standard last Monday, and will remain here
during the fall months.

Major J. P. Knowlton, of Kentville,
N. S., was the guest of his brother,
Mr. Ted Knowlton and Mrs. Knowlton for several days recently. Major Knowlton represented Military District
No. 6, at the Annual Military District
Convention held in Edmonton this month.

Mrs. O. P. Larsen and Miss Elma
Larsen left last Monday for the States. Miss Elma Larsen will attend the Dana College at Blair, Nebraska, for the ensuing year. She was the guest of honor at a surprise party at her home shortly before her departure.

Mrs. F. D. Knowlton visited Lacombe recently and on her return trip attended the St. Hilda's College Old Girls' Reunion in Calgary.

The Standard Women's Institute are giving their Annual Bazaar on October 29th, opening at 2:30 p.m. Plain and fancy sewing, bottles, house cooking and candy tables, and a fish pond will be the chief attractions of the afternoon. Afternoon tea will be served, followed by a Grand Masquerade Dance. Admission to dance $1.25, supper 25c. Mrs. Myers's orchestra will be in attendance. Celebrate Halloween at the S. & S. Hall.

Mr. Arthur Myrton is in charge of the Imperial Oil Station during the busy season.

KEOMA

Threshing is progressing well in this district. Most farmers are pleasantly surprised at the condition of the grain.

Mrs. Hopson is on a visit to her sister, Mrs. George Wilson.

A very enjoyable and well-attended meeting of the U.F.W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Vaughan Kington on Wednesday, October 6th. Arrangements were made and committees appointed for the Sale of Work to be held on November 26th. After the business meeting, A delightful
lunch was served.

The Dramatic Society are putting on a Masquerade Dance on Friday, October 29th, at which it is hoped the final payment for the hall piano will be realized. Everybody be sure to mask.

HOME-BUILDING AND ACHIEVING CONTENTMENT (By Mrs. LYNCH-STAUTON)

It has been said that "Contentment is better than riches," also, that with it the poor man is rich, and without it the rich man is poor. For contentment is life's greatest blessing, and great and prosperous may be the country in which there dwells a contented people, and by great I mean a country of happy and contented homes.

Contentment is the foremost essential to advancement and to prosperity. Without content there is bound to be a state of instability, of unrest, which can not but hinder progress and solidity in our nation-building.

Is the word "Home" to mean merely a place of shelter, a roof over our heads, or is it to retain the sacred meaning of other lands—the centre of family life, for the dwellers, and the future citizens of this new country? Home is here as it is everywhere, particularly the centre of woman's existence, and it is against all laws of Nature that a woman may be contented in a place that is not her home.

Our country being young and new, most of us have recollections of other places we called Home, or perhaps to the disadvantageous comparison of our prairie homes; but no matter where it was, with all of us, what we called "Home" has yet a warm place in our hearts. So with our children, we want them to take with them through their lives, and to cherish, that same loving memory of a happy and homelike Home.

We must remember always that we are in the process of building up a new country with all the problems that accompany such a process to be solved, and that one of our principal aims is to build up a contented and happy citizenship. And that well we may accomplish this.

You may have observed how in all towns and cities endeavors are being made to develop to its fullest extent a sense of civic pride. Every incentive is offered to induce the citizens to beautify their surroundings in order to make of their town the "City Beautiful."

Why should we not aim to make of our province the "Country Beautiful"?—with our magnificent background of superlative scenery, our mountains, the immensity of rolling prairie, our pure and healthful air, our streams, and our opportunities for sports here with the abundance of game everywhere in our province. "Alberta, the Land of Plenty," as the section occupied by the exhibit seen at the Women's Institutes of Alberta to the Canadian National Exhibition this year, was named. And well named, showing as it did the canned products of our province—such a variety of game meats, of fish from our streams and lakes, of fruits and vegetables and jellies from our prairie gardens and a background of spruce trees and evergreens from our mountains. Consider even the wonders, the glories, of our magnificent National Parks! Wonderful! Jasper, the Superb! And that vast and mysterious Northwest. And remember that other provinces have not got just these! Alberta, the Land of Plenty, and the land of opportunity!

Our want today is citizens, people to share with us this plenty, and to benefit in the opportunities that lie ready for development.

The most important national problem that confronts Canada is Immigration and Colonization, and we, even we, can do our part in solving this national problem, for we can aid in establishing firmly that which makes national prosperity and greatness possible, we can help in the establishment of the Home and Family. Though let us remember that this is not done by any presentation of scenery, but rather by the warm offering of the "Milk of Human Kindness."

Perhaps we may not realize the actual economic value of even one Home and one Family. Investigation by the Department of Colonization and Development shows that each family of five located on a producing farm spend annually $1,500 for clothing, groceries, implements, etc. Is this not of considerable importance to the merchants of our towns?

We may assist in this work if only by according welcome to our newcomers, and bringing to them that precious asset—contentment. And thus we build for permanence, that our citizens may be contented to remain after they have come.

We can help our neighbors over that trying time of loneliness and homesickness for old familiar and kindly-remembered scenes, and that period of readjusting of methods to new conditions that must necessarily follow.

Let us build the house on this newly-acquired land is actually built, or at least occupied, comes the time of home-building. Everything is available here, heart, empty, and the woman's heart craves for some touch of the beautiful about her. Contentment will be found in that new home until this longing is satisfied in ever so little a way. And fortunately Nature is at hand offering her aid, and "Nature never yet betrayed the heart that loved her."

The kindly neighbor has always a few seeds of success to give, a few seeds to spare, perhaps some plants, and he knows a garden.

And with our new neighbors everyone of us may plan now for that "Home Beautiful" of the year, and the next year, and over.

Of course there is that never-ending treeless space of ever and ever rolling prairie before us, but it has been successfully proven that even the prairie may be made to blossom forth in fruit and flowers that will give us a garden.

So do not lose heart. Plant your home surroundings most carefully. Picture to yourself a traveller crossing over a parched prairie by endless grain fields and dusty highway, and coming in a shady, green and fragrant spot which is your Home. Is it not worth while working for?

A plan of not well five acres in extent, of square or oblong shape, makes an ideal and roomy plot, for gardens and shelter belts of trees surrounding the house and barns and buildings. It is advisable to have two windbreaks, one with in the other and far enough apart so as not to shut out too much sun from the inner space. For the outside windbreak plant willows on three sides of the lot, these should be set in two rows twelve feet apart and about four feet apart in the row. Across the front so as not entirely to shut off the view plant a hedge of caragana and willows. For the inside windbreak plant Russian poplars widely spaced. I have been told that it is an excellent idea to plant your caragana seed in the fall or late summer. Sow the seed quite closely in a double row, and the seedlings will have an early start in the spring. The caragana hedge when it has grown three or four feet high can be kept trimmed.

Then several rows inside the outer rows of trees plant the second windbreak consisting of your vegetable and flower gardens and the lawn, this being of one row of willows and two inside rows of cottonwoods or Russian poplars, the willows four feet apart in the row and the cottonwoods and poplars may be eight or ten. You may even plant a pretty driveway if you wish. The space between the two rows of windbreaks will catch the winter winds which will serve to protect fruit trees and such and will also keep a great amount of moisture for the trees, while the inner space may be devoted to the vegetable garden and flowers, especially perennials. Here you may have strawberries, plants, raspberries, canes, currants and small fruits; you may revel in all the old-fashioned flowers such as you used to know, as hollyhocks, pansies, roses, lilacs, and many other hardy varieties that you will find grow with little trouble.

There are all the glorious annuals, sweet peas, mignonette, asters, etc. Enough and to spare to content any woman's heart, and make a

When autumn comes take up a few plants of petunias, of carnations, of pansies, and you will have summer with you all through the winter.

I might remind you that now is the time for planting bulbs, either for your spring garden or for winter blooming. They are very lovely and as the old philosopher said:

"If thou hast two leaves of bread, eat one and buy Hyacinths to feed thy soul."

Perhaps to us women of a young country belongs particularly the duty as well as the honor of Nation-building, and the women of the Women's Institutes are everywhere by the welcome and the friendliness they extend to newcomers, doing a noble and worthy work, in treasuring contentment, that greatest of blessings, within our Alberta Homes.

VANCOUVER PENALISED WITHOUT APPEAL BOARD

VANCOUVER—Revival of an organized demand by British Columbia interests for the establishment of a grain appeal board and grain research laboratory at Vancouver. They are forecast by Mayor Louis D. Taylor, who, in the course of an interview, explained that this port, the second largest Canadian grain-shipping centre, was being unfairly discriminated against.

Edmonton, Calgary and Winnipeg have grain appeal boards, said his worship, "while Vancouver is denied the right."

Producers Penalised

Continuing, he said: "The treatment that has been accorded our British Columbia grain producers by the absence of a grain appeal board has been arbitrary. They have been penalized to a marked extent in selling their grain, as recently shown in gross dispatches."

Together with Mayor Blatchford of Edmonton, I have for two years been endeavoring to have this wrong righted, and while Edmonton has recently been given an appeal board, I have so far been denied Vancouver.

Handies More Grain

This port actually handles many times the quantity of grain that Edmonton does, and it would seem that this port is forced to fight for its absolute necessities against by other competing ports and grainpeople.

HON. MR. FORKE'S OPPORTUNITY TO SOLVE CANADIAN DIFFICULTIES

Hon. Forke, to whom has been assigned the department of Immigration in the Dominion government, has a wonderful opportunity to solve one of Canada's important difficulties.

Canada has the problem of different races, scattered over a widely scattered area, which is a very serious handicap in the developing of national unity.

A further almost unannounced factor in the immense debt that has to be shouldered year in and year out, not only the dominion debt, but the greater amount of which, the result of the war and too rapid railway development, but also very heavy provincial and municipal obligations.

These debts may be materially reduced, and the burden lightened if Canada can secure a continuous flow of selected immigrants.

Naturally the British immigrant would appear to be the most promising line, but in many cases it has been learned that the Britishers that are most needed cannot be spared at home or do not wish to emigrate.

Thus, it is absolutely essential that the department direct their energies to securing from Europe, immigrants, who, in a short time will become enthusiastic Canadians. These selections should be confined to people trained in agriculture in the old lands, people who have for generations followed that avocation and have shown no disposition to be lured away to the white lights of the cities.

These people in two or three generations would be completely assimilated, and thoroughly inculcated, through the Canadian schools with a Canadian outlook in addition to bringing with them, if the proper selection is made, many traditions that would make for a fuller Canadian viewpoint.

WILL U. F. A.

DOOR OPEN FOR

HON. ALEX. ROSS?

The securing of a safe seat for the Hon. Alex. Ross has been much discussed since his defeat at the Provincial election, and so little interest has been manifested by those, especially, who are looking on from the outside.

There may be some difficulties to be met in obtaining the consent of members of the U.F.A. in the riding that may be selected, but there is little doubt that there may be found several constituencies in which the local U.F.A. member will endeavour to meet the wishes of their leader, Premier Broderick, if he desires to retain the services of Mr. Ross.

While Mr. Ross was first elected as a Labor representative, he has always been too moderate to retain the support of the more radical element in the Labor party, which now account for his defeat in the recent election. This fact alone should help him with the U.F.A. members rather than handicap him.

Mr. Ross has been not only a good sound, sane friend of Labor, but at the same time he has been a satisfactory minister, and has given the public very valuable services, especially in the matter of introducing a systematic plan of building better highways.

The investment in better roads that he has advocated and secured, will make big returns not only to the people of the province, but also in helping to develop the tourist trade.

The U.F.A. members may have their own democratic way of handling each constituency, but possibly ways and means may develop whereby the wish of Premier Broderick to retain Mr. Ross may be gratified, and that without wrecking the U.F.A. constitution, or even making the slightest impression upon it.

DEVELOPING BRITISH MARKET FOR EMPIRE PRODUCTS

The British Government had planned to spend over a hundred million dollars upon an immense publicity campaign throughout the United Kingdom, with the object of developing the consumption of food products produced within the empire.

However, owing to the unsettled industrial conditions, this vast amount has been reduced to about two and a half million dollars, and the Dominion Government has been endeavoring to so regulate the shipments of Canadian food products, in order that not a single shipment of low grade Canadian butter, eggs, bacon, apples or cheese will be able to be marketed, only as it should be graded.

One shipment of low grade produce, sold as No. 1, damaged the reputation of Canadian products in general. The department is endeavoring to have Canadian goods reach the British market of such quality that it will merit and obtain the benefits of the proposed publicity campaign.

It is a fact that under the regulations now being enforced, Canadian butter, which had a most unenviable reputation in the market is again being purchased by the British buyers.

PUBLIC MEN LEAD A VERY STRENUOUS LIFE

That the political life of the average politician is very strenuous is demonstrated very distinctly in the changes that have taken place in the personnel of the King cabinet recently formed at Ottawa.

Among the prominent men who were in office as recently as 1921, that are not now associated with the Premier, are: Geo. P. Graham, W. S. Fleming, A. B. Copp, James Murdoch, Charles Murphy, H. S. Behand, Sir Louer Gouin, D. D. Mackenzie, T. A. Low, W. C. Kennedy and Jacques Bureau.

Some of these men disappeared through the fortunes of war in the political battles, some by death, but in most cases the physical condition of these men, would not permit them to continue in office. Not only do our public men sacrifice money making opportunities, but the constant turmoil and work undermines their health, for all of which they do not even receive the grateful appreciation of the public, whom they have faithfully served.

CARSELAND

The weather had been unsettled and
business was quiet at the Chateau.
Lester Monmouth Harold Smith hadn't
very much to do, so he did the main guy,
Louis, threatened to put him on halt
pay.

In the meantime he gets the following off his chest in regard to the lady guests that he has known at the Chateau:

If you flatter her it makes her unbearable. If you don't you have her to death. If you permit her to make love to you she gets tired of you in the end, and if you don't she gets tired
of you in the beginning.

If you believe her in everything you
soon cease to interest her, and if you reign with her in everything you soon cease to charm her. If you believe all she tells you, she thinks you are crazy, and if you don't she thinks you
are a cynic.

If you wear gay colors and spots
and a startling tie she won't go out with you, but if you wear a conservative gray and a gentle hat she goes out with you and dances all evening at a man in a tuxedo and spots and a startling tie.

If you join her in all her parties
and approve of her smoking, she thinks that you are driving her to the devil. And if you don't approve of her smoking and urge her to give up, she thinks you are driving her to the devil.

If you are the hesitated type she doubts whether you have brains, and if you are a sudden, advance type she doubts whether she doubts whether you have a heart.

If you are silly she longs for a bright smile, and if you are brilliant and intellectual she longs for a playmate.

If you are tender with the other guests, she is jealous, and if you are not she is jealous to marry a wall-flower.

There is a tough job to please them. However, "I should worry," says Harold. "I can't make good here, I can go back to South, where I know there is one that thinks I am the really big guy." Smith says his absolutely no reference to Grandpa's latest and most serious attraction.

NIGHTINGALE

Bill Malcolm and Mr. Hollenbeck motored to Calgary Wednesday night to view the big light in the moving pictures.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lambert enjoyed the Elk's social in Strathmore
last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Dougan went to Kamloops last Saturday.

Some farmers are loading cars at Dunsin and reports a very good grade of wheat.

Mr. Geo. Tharston has been here
the past week looking after threshing interests.

Frank Harrison made a hurried trip to Calgary Thursday and returned with his threshing crew.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Taylor were routinely awakened at 2 a.m. the other morning by a strange looking gentleman, who was entirely lost. He was directed to Nightingale, and H. W.
says he hopes the next fellow will call
at a more convenient hour.

Jack Graham has some fine looking wheat in some fine looking stalks.
If we could only get some fine weather
it would be a fine world after all.

Jack Craig, of Calgary, was in the neighborhood last Saturday doing hunting. He brought along a canoe for retrieving purposes.

Sid Griffith says it moved ahead
but he didn't care. No reason why you should sid, after two falls to educate your patience.

NAMAKA

We are glad to report that Mr.
Watts, who has been seriously ill,
is now making satisfactory progress.
Mr. L. Ennes has been confined to his bed with an attack of the flu, but is now on the way to recovery.

The Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Worsters last week and they are now planning for a Turkey Supper on November 2nd.

An accident, which might have proved serious, occurred at Namaka Farm, when Peter Harder, who was handling a 22, endeavored to force a shell into the chamber while holding the muzzle of the gun towards his boy. Somehow the gun discharged, the bullet striking the lower rib. The child is doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. F. Wheeler lost last week for californian, which she will spend a month with relatives.

business was quiet at the Chateau,
hence Monsieur Harold Smith had very much to do, so, the man and Louis, threatened to put him on halt
pay.

In the meantime he gets the following off his chest in regard to the lady guests that he has known at the Chateau:

"If you flatter her it makes her inbearable. If you don't you have her to boil, if you permit her to make love to you she gets tired of you in
the end, and if you don't she gets tired
of you in the beginning.

"If you believe her in everything you
soon cease to interest her, and if you speak with her in everything you soon cease to charm her. And if you believe
all she tells you, she thinks you are
crazy, and if you don't she thinks you
are a cynic.

"If you wear gay colors and spats
and a startling tie she won't go out
with you, but if you wear a conservative gray and a gentle hat she goes out with you and starts all evening at a man in gay colors and spats and
a startling tie.

"If you join her in all her parties
and approve of her smoking, she thinks that you are driving her to the devil. And if you don't approve of her smoking and urge her to give up her parties she says that you are driving her to the devil.

"If you are the hesitated type she doubts whether you have brains, and if you are a modern, advanced, and independent man she doubts whether
you have a heart.

"If you are shy she longs for a bright man, and if you are brilliant
and intellectual she longs for a play-
mate.

"If you are popular with the other women she is jealous, and if you are not she hesitates to marry a wall
flower.

"It sure is a tough job to please them. However, 'I should wonder what Harold, 'I can't make good here, or can't get on with them, where I know there is one that thinks I am the only kid.' Smith says this has absolutely no reference to Chateau's lives and most serious attention.

harnessed to a 22, endeavored to force
